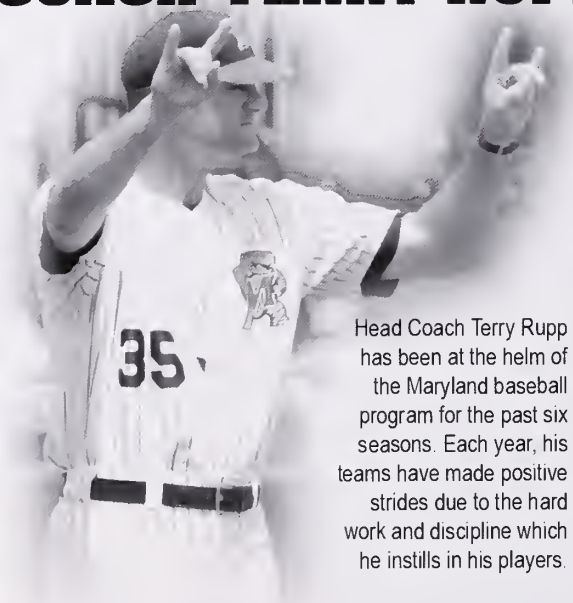
THIS IS MARYLAND BASEBALL

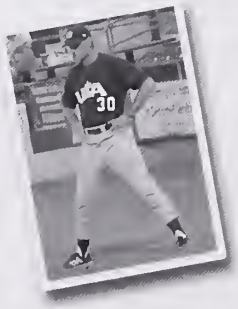
TEAM CONCEPT

The cornerstone of the Terrapin baseball program is a strong team concept. At Maryland, individual players come together as one solid group in order to achieve the same goal: success.

COACH TERRY RUPP



Head Coach Terry Rupp has been at the helm of the Maryland baseball program for the past six seasons. Each year, his teams have made positive strides due to the hard work and discipline which he instills in his players.



RUPP WITH TEAM USA

In the summer of 2002, Head Coach Terry Rupp served as an assistant coach with Team USA Baseball. Rupp toured with the squad on its summer Red, White and Blue Tour, before helping the Stars & Stripes capture the Honkbal Classic Championship in The Netherlands and the silver medal at the FISU World University Baseball Championship.

ROAD TO THE PROS

Following the 2006 baseball season, Ben Pfinsgraff and Seth Overbey joined the growing list of Terps who signed professional baseball contracts after playing under Terry Rupp. Over the past 10 amateur drafts, 22 of Rupp's players have been selected by major league clubs. The duo joins freshly-minted pros like John McCurdy, Kevin Hart, Eric Milton (Cincinnati Reds), Steve Schmoll, Justin Maxwell, and Truan Mehl as Terps currently playing pro ball.

A 6-foot-3, 185-pound sidearm hurler, Overbey was a 15th round selection by the Toronto Blue Jays. In his senior season at Maryland he registered a 5-2 record and career-best 3.49 ERA to go along with a pair of saves and 40 strikeouts over 49 innings of work as both the team's setup man and closer. His 29 appearances set the school's single-season record.

Pfinsgraff was a 22nd round selection by the Philadelphia Phillies organization. In 2006, the 6-feet, 175-pound righthander compiled a 3-7 mark and 5.87 ERA with a team-leading 60 strikeouts in 14 starts. The highlight of his season came on April 1, when he allowed three runs over six strong innings to beat then-No. 3 Georgia Tech for the second year in a row (Pfinsgraff knocked off Tech in Atlanta when the Yellow Jackets were the top-ranked team in the nation in 2005).

The 2005 Terps who entered the professional ranks have already made their mark in the minor leagues. Justin Maxwell, a fourth round selection by the Washington Nationals, batted .269 and hit four home runs in 74 games with the Class-A Vermont Lake Monsters. Truan Mehl, a 30th round pick by the Texas Rangers, batted .333 in 102 games with 32 RBIs and 12 doubles.

SEASON OUTLOOK

TERPS SEEK RETURN TO POSTSEASON WITH IMPROVED DEPTH.

While the University of Maryland baseball team faces off against some of the nation's best and toughest competition each year in the Atlantic Coast Conference, head coach Terry Rupp and the Terrapins know their goal for the 2007 season is clear: improve conference play and return to the postseason.

For the Terps, the key to returning to Jacksonville for the conference tournament after a one-year layoff will lie in their improved depth throughout the lineup. Rupp and his coaching staff have assembled a squad which he believes can compete with the top teams throughout the year.

"We had a young team last year, and these guys are more seasoned," Rupp says. "I think it's a more balanced team offensively. We've got some guys one through nine that can do a lot of different things."

At each position, the Terps have loaded up on talent, a valuable resource as the season kicks into high gear and Maryland enters the heart of its ACC slate. Keeping his players fresh and rested is one of Rupp's highest priorities, and, with the depth and breadth of talent in his lineup, he believes this year's Terrapins are ready to challenge the best of the best for the conference title.

After all, the Terps proved to be giant-slayers on more than one occasion last season. In 2006, while playing a schedule rated 10th-hardest among all NCAA Division I teams, the Terps notched seven wins over ranked opponents, including a series victory over No. 3 Georgia Tech. Including the Yellow Jackets, the Terps played eight nationally-ranked teams in the ACC last season, and will continue their tough opponent schedule with five teams which finished in the Baseball America Top 25 poll.

With a tough road ahead, Rupp will turn to a combination of solid offensive production and clean fielding on the defensive side to keep the Terps in the game into the late innings.

"We're going to swing the bats," explains Rupp. "But at the same time, we can also do the finer points of the game, such as bunting, hit-and-run, and moving runners, and do the things that are needed to win ballgames. Defensively, we're going to be much improved. I don't see any holes in our lineup."

That lineup will be tested right away, as the Terps will play six games away from College Park to open the season before returning home for back-to-back weekend series against George Washington and Lafayette. Overall, the Terps will play 33 games at Shipley Field, the most since the 2002 season. For Rupp, the early home games will prove vital for the Terps as their final tune-up before ACC play kicks off with a road series at North Carolina State.

"It's a good thing that we can keep our guys rested," he says. "Academically, it's going to lessen the load on them and they can achieve more in the classroom. They get to sleep in their own beds, and there's nothing like home field advantage. We've been successful playing at home. I think the key for us is weather. We've got to be able to get the series against George Washington and Lafayette in, so hopefully Mother Nature will cooperate with us."

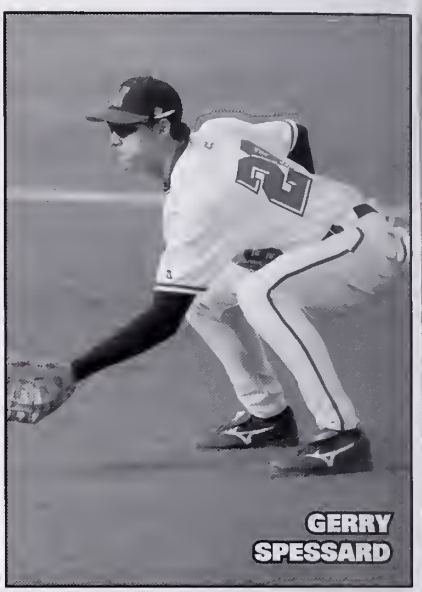
The Terps' season success may hinge on a quick start, in order to gain crucial momentum into March and beyond. A fast start will put Maryland in prime position to qualify for the ACC Tournament and, if all goes to plan, further postseason play.

"The schedule is going to be tough as always. Our main thing is that we have to come out of the box winning," Rupp explains. "Last year, we came out really slow because we were unsettled in a lot of positions. This year, we're more settled, we know where we're going with our players and we've had guys win positions outright. That helps out, because now we hit the ground running. Last year, if we had taken some of those early series and turned them around in our favor, we'd be sitting in the Regional tournament, which is ultimately our goal: to compete in the NCAAs and compete for a national championship. At the same time, we've got to go through a rugged conference. This year, we need to get those games that were decided by one or two runs turned in our favor."

INFIELD

With strong performances and a seasoned lineup, the Terps have been able to lock down their starting infield early on.

Redshirt sophomore Gerry Spessard will start at first base, bringing a strong combination of offense as well as defense in his second season in College Park. Spessard, who was recognized for his outstanding play this past summer as a member of the New York Collegiate Baseball League's Watertown Wizards, will be counted upon to be a linchpin in the heart of the batting order. Last season, he combined strong output at the plate with speed on the base path, as he set a school record with five triples and led the Terps with 14 doubles.



GERRY SPESSARD

"Gerry is probably one of the better athletes on the team," says Rupp. "He can run, he's a big kid, and he's very strong and a solid hitter from the left side. He's a guy we're looking to anchor the middle of our lineup. He had a great summer and we're looking for great things from him."

At second base, sophomore Dan Benick will start while junior Joe Palumbo will challenge him for playing time throughout the season. Both players are versatile infielders and can provide the necessary defensive skills at one of the most difficult positions on the field. Benick, coming off a season in which he tied for the team lead in home runs with five, is a legitimate threat to go deep any time he is at the plate. Palumbo has proven to be a valuable hitter with his consistency and patience at the plate and is one of the strongest pinch hitting threats in the clubhouse.

Rounding out the middle infield for the Terps will be senior shortstop Dan Melvin, the team's top returning hitter and a strong candidate for All-ACC honors. Melvin, an excellent fielder up the middle who is adept at turning double plays, is also the squad's most dangerous offensive weapon. Melvin led the team in 10 offensive categories: hitting (.338), at-bats (204), runs (34), hits (69), home runs (five), RBIs (30), slugging (.471), walks (23) on-base (.416) and multi-hit games (22).

"Dan has been outstanding defensively at shortstop," Rupp says. "He's an offensive shortstop, which is good to have. I see him improving, even after last year."

Sophomore Mike Murphy will man the hot corner, after starting at third base throughout his freshman season. As one of the younger starters in the lineup, Rupp sees vast improvement in his game.

"Mike Murphy has made the most strides of anybody on the club defensively," he says. "He has really improved his backhand at third base, which was really a problem for him last year. Offensively, he's made some changes in his swing and he looks real good at the plate."

Junior Steve Braun will prove to be one of Rupp's most valuable resources, as the versatile utility man can expect to see plenty of playing time in the infield, not only providing backup but also potentially starting some games as the season progresses.

"Steve is going to play," Rupp explains. "He's a guy we can move around to many different positions, and he gives us that luxury to get a guy out of the game when he needs to. Steve is a tremendous athlete and a great baseball player."

CATCHER

The catching duties will be handled by junior Chad Durakis, a player who has proven his worth day in and day out as one of the top offensive catchers in the conference. While Rupp acknowledges the importance of Durakis managing the game, he knows that his production can certainly improve over the coming season.

"Chad Durakis has been the guy that grinds it out back there, and we know what we're going to get from him," he explains. "He has been consistent on a daily basis, and we're hoping that we won't have to have him catch every day. Hopefully we can move him to a DH role from time to time."

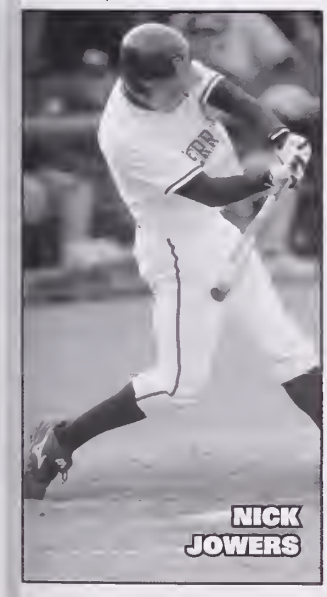
Relief behind the plate will come in the form of Will Greenberg, a sophomore transfer from Washington College who will see his fair share of playing time. In addition, junior Dan Mellies and sophomore Mike Moss may compete for time at the catcher spot.

"Will Greenberg is going to add another threat to our lineup," Rupp says. "We didn't have an opportunity to see him this fall, but we've seen him play before and he's a guy who is very comfortable picking up the catching duties. He is going to give Chad Durakis and the other guys a run for their money."

OUTFIELD

The Terps will boast impressive depth at all three outfield positions, an asset that Rupp and the coaching staff will use extensively to maintain fresh legs in the field.

In left field, sophomore Patrick "Wink" Nolan and redshirt freshman Mike Rozak will split duties. Nolan brings blazing speed to any position he plays, while Rozak will see his first action in a Terrapin uniform after wrist surgery kept him from the field last season. Both are multi-talented players who could be put at many positions in the lineup.



Junior Nick Jowers is firmly entrenched as the team's starting center fielder in 2007, his second straight year in that position after strong contributions at the plate. In addition, his defensive skills have earned praise from Rupp.

"Nick Jowers is probably one of the better defensive players you're going to find in center field in this league," he explains. "He is not the fastest guy, but he makes great jumps off the ball and that's something you can't teach. He's always in the right spot and is just a solid outfielder. He's going to continue to make us strong up the middle. Offensively, he's made some adjustments at the plate and we expect him to have a good year."

In right field, newcomer AJ Casario opens the season as the starter, replacing one of the team's key losses in Matt Maropis, a senior in 2006. Casario, who was drafted last year in the 27th round by the Los Angeles Dodgers, is one of the team's freshmen who will make an immediate impact on the Terps lineup.

"AJ Casario has tremendous power at the plate, as he hit 20-plus home runs in high school," Rupp says. "He's going to add that threat of left-handed power into our lineup, which we didn't have in the past. He's a great runner with raw talent and he has a great arm."

PITCHING

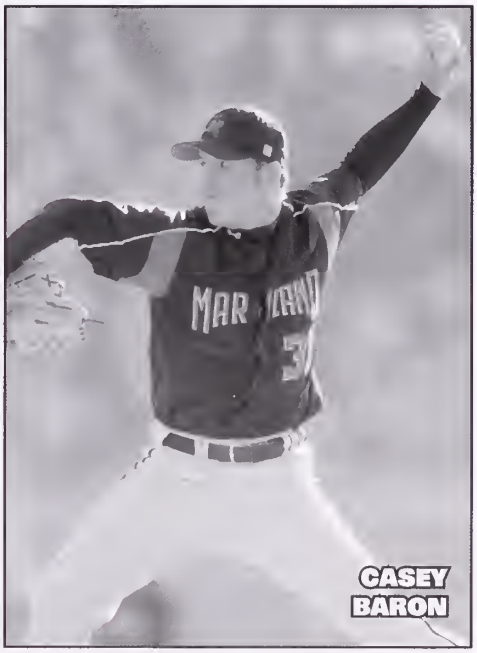
On the mound, the Terps lost two key seniors in Ben Pfinsgraff and Seth Overbey, but the team has loaded up on arms and should be able to pitch effectively deep into the game. Of course, it helps that once the game reaches the seventh inning and the Terps have the lead, they can count on one of the top closers in the entire nation. Junior lefty Brett Cecil, a preseason watch list selection for the Roger Clemens Award, has established himself as a dominating, lights-out presence in the Terps' bullpen. Cecil, who shattered the school's single-season saves record with 13 in 2006, is a player that Coach Rupp trusts to carry the team to victory when called upon.

"We've got Brett Cecil at the tail end of the game. He's a premium player and we know that if we get the ball in his hands with a lead, we're going to win most of those games," Rupp explains. "That's probably our goal this season – to get to the seventh inning with a lead so we can turn the ball over to our horse, and that's Brett Cecil."

Senior lefthander Casey Baron will head up a rotation that will use many different arms to pitch deep into the game. Baron, who posted a 5.31 ERA and a 1-5 record last year, will be pitching coach Jim Farr's most experienced starter, while others such as junior Ryan Moorer and sophomore John Dischert will be asked to pick up their game and earn spots in the rotation.

"The guy that is going to move to the front because of his experience is Casey Baron," Rupp says. "He kept us in a lot of ballgames towards the tail end of last year when he moved into the starting rotation. We need Casey to anchor the staff and give us solid performances."

Besides Cecil, the bullpen is loaded with a number of pitchers who can provide relief at any point during a game. With Baron the lone senior on the pitching staff, many younger players will get a chance to pitch, as well as the veteran hurlers who can continue to contribute. Among the returning arms, juniors Brett Tidball, Kevin Biringer, and Mike Sufczynski will play vital roles. With newcomers such as Nick Pearce, a 40th round draft pick last year by the Washington Nationals organization, along with a host of other fresh faces, the Terps expect to have a solid pitching core throughout the season.



HEAD COACH TERRY RUPP

SEVENTH SEASON AT MARYLAND • TAMPA '88

12TH SEASON AS A HEAD COACH

Terry Rupp is in his seventh season as the head coach of the Terrapin baseball team. Since taking over as skipper six years ago, Rupp has overseen dramatic improvements in many aspects of the baseball program. His philosophy of discipline and hard work has helped steer Terp baseball in the right direction as the program works to establish a new winning tradition.

During his tenure as head coach Rupp has shown the ability to teach and develop his players, readying them for the next level. In the past two MLB drafts, a total of six Terps were chosen. Last season, righthanders Seth Overbey and Ben Pfinsgraff were chosen in the 15th and 22nd rounds, respectively. In 2005, four Terps were taken, including 2005 preseason All-American outfielder Justin Maxwell. A fourth-round pick by Washington, Maxwell began his career as a .239 hitter before Rupp molded him into one of the best performers in college baseball.

The 2006 season brought another year where the Terps combined steady improvement with a number of noteworthy achievements. The team closed out the season with a four-game win streak, the longest since the 2004 season. Maryland finished with a 26-30 record after playing the 10th-hardest schedule in the nation, according to Baseball America. Among those wins, the Terps defeated No. 3 Georgia Tech twice, as well as No. 3 North Carolina, the eventual College World Series runner-up.

A number of records fell this past season, as several Terps made their mark on the proud history of Maryland baseball. Lefthander Brett Cecil set a new single-season saves mark with 13, while righthander Seth Overbey set a new season record with 29 appearances in 2006. On the offensive side of the ball, infielder Gerry Spessard broke the triples mark with five.

In 2005, the Terps achieved many impressive team and individual feats. Twice in 2005 Rupp and the Terps upset a top-five opponent. On April 2, Maryland beat top-ranked Georgia Tech, 2-1, in Atlanta. A month later the Terps were at it again, upsetting No. 4 Miami, 11-9, on the road. For the second straight season, the Terps earned a victory in the ACC Tournament, beating Virgina Tech on the first day of action. Outfielder Will Frazier finished his prolific career as the school's all-time leader in doubles, extra base hits and total bases. Righthanded pitcher Chris Clem also capped off an impressive run under Rupp, becoming Maryland's all-time leader with 298 innings pitched.

In 2004, Rupp guided his Terrapins to several record-breaking performances. His team tied an NCAA record by hitting 13 doubles against UMBC on March 10. Four of Rupp's players (Anthony Buffone, Justin Hulse, Brian Jarosinski and Matt Maropis) moved into the top-10 of categories in Maryland's single-season records book with Buffone breaking the all-time at-bat record. The Terrapins also earned their first ACC tournament victory since 1999.

During the 2003 season, Rupp took a very young group of players and guided them to team and individual success. Despite having five freshmen and sophomores in the starting lineup, the Terps won three consecutive ACC series for the first time since they began playing three-game sets in 1990. The 2003 campaign saw the Terps facing some very tough competition, as they came away with four victories over teams in the top 15.

After adjusting to ACC play in his first season in 2001, Rupp brought home a school record 34 wins in 2002. It marked the first time that a Terrapin baseball team reached the 30-win plateau in a season. That year, Rupp also saw numerous team single-season records shattered, including runs, hits, doubles, RBI, strikeouts, and saves.

In the summer of 2002, Rupp took advantage of a unique opportunity and represented Maryland as an assistant coach with Team USA Baseball. Rupp helped guide the team on its summer Red, White and Blue Tour, before helping the Stars & Stripes capture the Honkbal Classic Championship in The Netherlands. Rupp and Team USA then went on to earn the silver medal at the FISU World University Baseball Championship in Messina, Italy.

Before accepting the head job at Maryland, Rupp, 40, led his alma mater, the University of Tampa, to a 215-80 (.729) record in five years, including four 40-win seasons. Rupp guided the 1998 Spartans to the program's third national championship with an impressive 46-14 record and was named National Coach of the Year. In 2000, his team was ranked No. 2 in the NCAA Division II poll heading into postseason play. His Tampa teams posted a remarkable 15-5 cumulative record against Division I opposition, including wins over Miami, Oral Roberts, Southwestern Louisiana and Army.

Rupp is a 1988 graduate of Tampa, where he earned a bachelor of science degree in marketing. There, he was a two-time All-South Regional selection and played on teams that made a pair of national championship appearances. He was a teammate of New York Yankees first baseman and four-time world champion, Tino Martinez. CARMEN CARCONE

ASSISTANT COACH/INFIELDERS
THIRD SEASON AT MARYLAND
ILLINOIS-CHICAGO '95

Carmen Carcone returns for his third season as an assistant coach for the Terps. Working with infielders in 2006, Carcone assisted in the continued improvement of the team's veterans and development of the younger players. Under his supervision, starting shortstop Dan Melvin led the team in 10 different batting categories, while at the same time, Carcone developed many young players in the infield who have become everyday players, such as Gerry Spessard and Dan Benick..

Prior to Maryland, Carcone spent five seasons as the head coach of Division II Dowling College (Long Island, N.Y.), where he built the Golden Lions into one of the premier teams in the Northeast. At Dowling, his teams posted an overall record of 152-82, averaging over 30 wins per season. Under Carcone, Dowling appeared in five consecutive New York Collegiate Athletic Conference (NYCAC) championship games. He also led the school to three consecutive NCAA Div. II regional appearances, including its first ever showing in 2002. In 2003, the Golden Lions captured the school's first ever league title. Twice, Carcone was named NYCAC Manager of the Year.

Carcone has also spent several summers coaching in the New England Collegiate Baseball League (NECBL) and Cape Cod Baseball League. After winning the NECBL Championship in 2002 with the Newport Gulls, he was named manager of the Orleans Cardinals of the Cape Cod League. The Cardinals appeared in back-to-back Cape Cod finals, capturing the championship in 2003. That squad, which Carcone recruited, saw 20 of its 23 players selected in the 2004 MLB draft. Seven of those players were taken in the first five rounds, including two first-round draft picks. In 2002, Carcone was unanimously voted Cape Cod League Coach of the Year.

Overall, Carcone has coached more than 60 players who have been drafted, including three first-round picks. He has also served as an assistant coach at Cornell University and SUNY Cortland. Carcone graduated from the University of Illinois at Chicago with a bachelor's degree in Kinesiology in 1995. He later received his Master's in Secondary Education at Dowling College.

JIM FARR

ASSISTANT COACH/PITCHING
SECOND SEASON AT MARYLAND
PENN STATE '78

Jim Farr returns for his second year as pitching coach for the Terps and 22nd season in coaching, overall.

In his first season in College Park, Farr oversaw a pitching staff that marked steady improvement while a number of pitching records fell, as closer Brett Cecil set a new single-season mark with 13 saves and relief pitcher Seth Overbey set a new mark with 29 appearances in the 2006 season.

A former major league pitcher, Farr comes to the Terrapins from the College of William & Mary, where he left as the school's all-time winningest coach after transforming the Tribe into a perennial Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) contender. In 13 seasons at William & Mary, Farr compiled a record of 373-310-2, including five consecutive 30-win campaigns from 2000-2004, the program's first conference title in 2001 and a school-record 37 victories in 2004.

His tenure at William & Mary was highlighted not only by victories but by his invaluable contributions to the program, as well. In 1999 he helped spearhead an effort to build Plumeri Park, a brand new 1,000-seat baseball facility on campus. Over the years Farr has helped numerous student-athletes reach the next level, sending 26 players to the pros, including four who have major league experience.

In 1993 he was named CAA Co-Coach of the Year after guiding his club to a 24-19-1 record in his first season at the school.

A graduate of Penn State, Farr was drafted by the Texas Rangers in 1978. He went on to pitch in the Rangers' and San Francisco Giants' organizations for the next eight seasons. An elbow injury would eventually force him to retire, but not before reaching the Major League level, where he served two tours of duty. His best big league season was 1982 when he compiled a 2.50 ERA as a reliever.

Following his playing career, Farr returned to Penn State, where he became an assistant coach for three years and earned his Master's degree in 1988. Farr then went on to spend four seasons as an assistant at Old Dominion.

Farr and his wife, Susan, have two daughters, Jessica (22) and Danielle (20). Jessica is a 2006 graduate of Longwood University and sister Danielle plays tennis at Christopher Newport University.

BLAINE BROWN

VOLUNTEER ASSISTANT COACH
SECOND SEASON AT MARYLAND
SAINT MARY '02

Blaine Brown returns for his second season as a volunteer assistant coach for Terry Rupp. Brown's responsibilities at Maryland include working with catchers, hitters, scouting assignments, on-campus recruiting and coaching first base.

Before coming to Maryland, Brown spent two seasons as Jeff Messer's top assistant coach at Slippery Rock University. Brown was in charge of the catchers and hitters along with recruiting for the "Rock." He helped produce two All-Region players and 10 all-conference honorees. Brown helped guide Slippery Rock to a top-five national ranking his last year, as well as a berth in the NCAA Division II Regionals. He also helped supervise Slippery Rock summer baseball camps, as well as his own clinics.

Prior to Slippery Rock, Brown was an assistant at Drexel University, where he worked with the catchers and outfielders. Brown also was involved in camp coordination and recruiting efforts for Drexel. Following his stint with the Dragons, Brown spent time at Brescia University in Kentucky working with the catchers and hitters.

During the summer of 2003, Brown was in Sao Paulo, Brazil working for Major League Baseball. Serving as an MLB International Envoy, his responsibilities included player development, working with their national teams and developing strategies to enhance the level of play for the Brazilian baseball federation. The past two summers, Brown has been head coach for the New Market Rebels, a member of the Valley Baseball League (one of only eight summer leagues sanctioned by the NCAA and MLB). He will be returning to lead the Rebels for a third summer in 2006.

Brown, a native of Richmond, Kan., received his bachelor's degree in accounting from the University of Saint Mary in Leavenworth, Kan.

2006 SEASON NOTEBOOK

TERPS TOPPLE RANKED TEAMS SEVEN TIMES, FINISH STRONG.

TURTLES CLOSE OUT 2006 WITH A BANG

- As the team opens the 2007 season at Winthrop on Feb. 9, Maryland will be looking to build on its four-game win streak which closed out the 2006 regular season.
- Maryland grabbed a 11-9 victory at rival West Virginia on May 9, coming off a 13-hit outing which was capped by a three-run eighth inning to earn the lead. In that inning, Mike Murphy led off with a double and scored on a Steve Braun single after advancing to third on Dan Benick's sacrifice. Braun came home on a Nick Jowers triple on the next at-bat, and following a pitching change, Matt Maropis brought home the 11th run of the day on his double to right field. Brett Cecil closed out the game for his 12th save of the season after pitching a scoreless ninth inning. The win earned a season sweep over the Mountaineers, after the Terps defeated WVU, 10-8, in College Park on April 18.
- The final weekend of the season brought three more wins for the Terps, as solid pitching performances by Brad Taylor, Seth Overbey, and Ben Pfinsgraff earned wins over UMES in doubleheader action, 5-1 and 3-2, as well as a 7-0 shutout of Coppin State on May 11 in the season finale.
- The four-game win streak is the team's longest since the 2004 season, when it won four games in five days to end the month of March, notching wins over Duke twice, as well as VCU and Delaware.

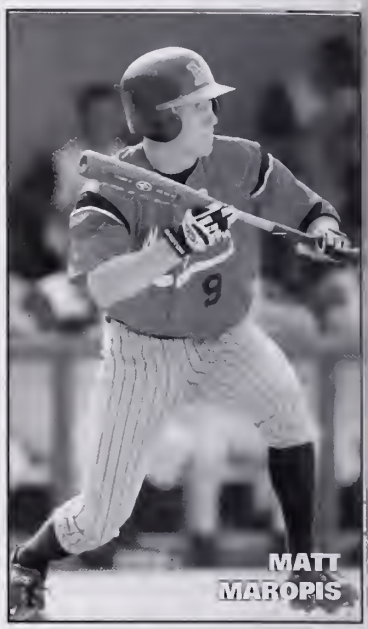
THE HARDER THEY COME, THE HARDER THEY FALL

- As the Terps began their sixth year under head coach Terry Rupp, one department that the team was not lacking in was its schedule. Maryland played a slate that was rated 10th most difficult among all Division I teams.
- The Terps played 27 games against ranked foes, beginning with the No. 26 Winthrop Eagles in their second weekend of action. As the team entered conference play, it faced off against eight ACC foes who cracked the rankings. Despite its grueling schedule, Maryland went on to win nearly a third of its games against ranked opponents. Those wins came over No. 3 North Carolina, No. 25 James Madison and No. 24 Wake Forest on the road, and No. 14 Miami, No. 15 Old Dominion and No. 3 Georgia Tech twice within the confines of Shipley Field.

BEN PFINSGRAFF

- Third-ranked Georgia Tech came to College Park during the weekend of March 31-April 2, and while the Jackets impressed with a 15-4 victory in the opening game of the series, the resilient Terps came back to win the next two games, 6-3 and 8-5. In the first of their two wins, senior Ben Pfinsgraff pitched six innings with seven strikeouts while allowing just three runs, and Brett Cecil entered the game in the seventh and was lights-out, allowing just one hit in the final three innings to earn the save. A day later, the Terps won the rubber match as Casey Baron earned the victory, aided by strong relief outings from Cecil and senior Seth Overbey.
- The victories over Georgia Tech marked the team's second-straight year with wins over a highly-ranked Yellow Jackets squad, as the Terps defeated the top-ranked Jackets in Atlanta, 2-1, almost exactly one year prior.
- Maryland played three games against non-ACC ranked teams. After a 10-3 loss in the second weekend of the season at Winthrop, the Terps followed up with two straight wins over No. 25 James Madison in Harrisonburg, Va., on March 22, followed by a 7-2 triumph over No. 15 Old Dominion on April 11.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME



MATT MAROPIS

- Two seasons removed from renovations to Shipley Field, the Maryland Terrapins continued to dominate "the Ship" in 2006, winning 18 of 28 games in College Park.
- Playing at Shipley Field proved to be too daunting a task for visitors outside the Atlantic Coast Conference, as the Terps amassed a 10-0 record against non-conference opponents at home. Following a 7-5 loss to Towson on May 4, 2005, Maryland has since accumulated a 13-game win streak at home against non-conference foes.
- Infielder Dan Melvin concluded a solid junior campaign batting .338, but he was even more effective in College Park. At Shipley Field, Melvin registered a .374 average, with eight of his 16 extra-base hits, as well as two-thirds of his team-leading 30 RBIs occurring at home.
- Terp pitchers felt just as comfortable at home, earning a 4.13 ERA with opposing players batting just .271. Reliever Brett Cecil earned eight of his record-shattering 13 saves at Shipley, while senior Seth Overbey was overpowering there, notching a 3-0 record and a 0.69 ERA in 13 appearances.
- Maryland fans have been a big part of the Shipley experience as well, as contoured vinyl seats and remodeled restrooms made for a more comfortable experience for spectators, while flags of ACC opponents and a brand new sound system gave Shipley a more fan friendly look and feel. On the field, the additions of batting cages and bullpens gave both home and away teams ample space to warm up, and outfield padding and a revamped warning track made for a safer playing environment.

KEEP YOUR ENEMIES CLOSE

SETH OVERBEY

- Maryland earned a reputation among its opponents as a tough team to beat in close games, as the Terps marked a 12-4 record in one-run games.
- The Terrapins were able to hold down late leads throughout the season, as they earned a 17-1 record when leading after the conclusion of the seventh inning.
- Crunch time proved to be the best time for the Terps, as they won both of their games in which they were tied heading into the final inning of regulation. The Terps maintained a 4-4 tie into the ninth inning against George Washington until Nick Jowers hit a walk-off home run to earn the 5-4 victory. Four days later against Duke, the two teams were deadlocked at 8-8 into extra innings before Dan Benick singled to left field, scoring Matt Maropis and earning the series win.

CECIL SHUTS THE DOOR ON SAVES RECORD

- Brett Cecil made his mark on the Terps record books in 2006, shattering the single season mark for saves with 13, a figure that nearly doubled the old record of seven. That mark ranked third in the ACC and tied for 12th in the nation.
- In addition, Cecil recorded 54 strikeouts in 58.1 innings of work while compiling an ERA of 4.78. His 26 appearances tied for fourth on the all-time single season list.
- In his career, Cecil has compiled a 5-6 record and 4.35 ERA in 44 appearances. He has pitched 101.1 innings, with six career starts.

"STRIVE FOR CLARITY, BUT ACCEPT AND UNDERSTAND AMBIGUITY."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Thirteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions and accept ambiguity."

AND WE ALSO HOPE YOU ENJOY THE JOURNEY.

2007 MARYLAND BASEBALL

THE UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

DEEP ROOTS, BROAD IMPACT

Charles Benedict Calvert founded the Maryland Agricultural College in 1856 with the goal of creating a school that would offer outstanding practical knowledge to him and his neighbors and be "an institution superior to any other."

One hundred and fifty years later, the University of Maryland has blossomed from its roots as the state's first agricultural college and one of America's original land grant institutions into a model of the modern research university. It is the state's greatest asset for its economic development and its future, and has made its mark in the nation and the world.

Calvert would be astounded by the depth and breadth of research activities, innovative educational programs, and the single-minded pursuit of excellence that are part of the University of Maryland today. Maryland is ranked 18th among the nation's top public research universities by U.S. News & World Report, with 31 academic programs in the Top 10 and 92 in the Top 25. It is also ranked No. 37th in the world, according to the Institute of Higher Education at at Shanghai's Jiao Tong University.

Maryland is the state's premier center of research and graduate education and the public institution of choice for undergraduate students of exceptional ability and promise. The faculty includes three Nobel laureates, six Pulitzer Prize winners, a three-time Emmy Award winner, 40 members of national academies and scores of Fulbright scholars. The university focuses great attention on the highest academic standards, affordability for all qualified students, and a President's Promise program that guarantees opportunity for extraordinary extracurricular and professional experiences for each student.

It has earned a national reputation for its enriched educational experiences for undergraduates, including such widely imitated living/learning programs as College Park Scholars; Gemstone, a unique program that brings teams of students together from across disciplines to tackle specific technical problems; and the Hinman CEO Entrepreneurship Program, sponsored jointly by the A. James Clark School of Engineering and the Robert H. Smith School of Business, and widely recognized as the most successful student entrepreneurship program in the nation.

These programs are guided by outstanding faculty whose accomplishments in research abound. Whether the issue is Mideast peace, cutting-edge research in nanoscience, homeland security or bioscience advances, Maryland faculty are selected for national leadership and are making news. Many recent major faculty initiatives receiving significant external support strengthen our homeland security endeavors—centers for research on agrosecurity and emergency management; intermodal freight transportation security; behavioral and social analyses of terrorism and responses to terrorism; astrophysics and advanced world climate and weather prediction; and a national Center for Advanced Study of Language.

In addition to its academic prowess, Maryland is also home to the Terrapins, whose athletic achievements are a perennial source of pride for nearly 250,000 alumni and residents of the state. In 2005-2006, the Terrapins brought home national championships in four sports — men's soccer, field hockey, competitive cheer and women's basketball — more than any university in the nation.

In 2004, Maryland's School of Music hosted the National Symphony Orchestra in its first university residency, and its 2006 opera production was declared by the Washington Post music critic "... as good as any Bohème you are likely to see this side of the Metropolitan Opera or Covent Garden."

Whether aiming for the skies or pioneering journalism programs in China, the University of Maryland is surging ahead. Building on the work of outstanding faculty and students, and with the loyal support of alumni and friends, Maryland is moving aggressively and confidently to a decade that will shine brighter than any other in its history.

DR. C.D. MOTE

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT
CALIFORNIA '59
EIGHTH YEAR

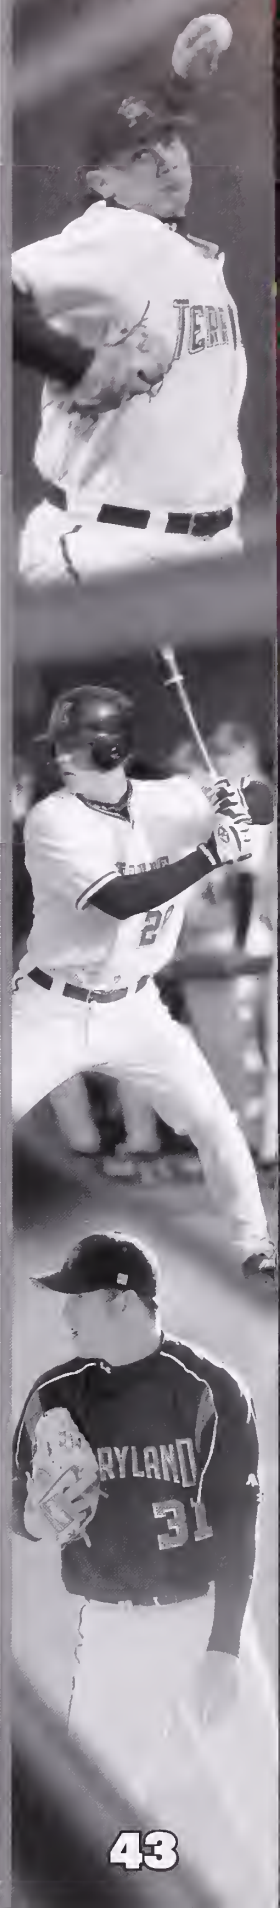
In September 1998, C. D. (Dan) Mote, Jr. began his tenure as President of the University of Maryland and Glenn L. Martin Institute Professor of Engineering. He was recruited to lead the University of Maryland to national eminence under a mandate by the state. Since assuming the presidency, he has encouraged an environment of excellence across the University and given new impetus to the momentum generated by a talented faculty and student body. Under his leadership, academic programs have flourished. In 2005, the University was ranked 18th among public research universities, up from 30th in 1998. President Mote has emphasized broad access to the university's model, enriched undergraduate curriculum programs and launched the Baltimore Incentive Awards Program to recruit and provide full support to high school students of outstanding potential who have overcome extraordinary adversity during their lives.

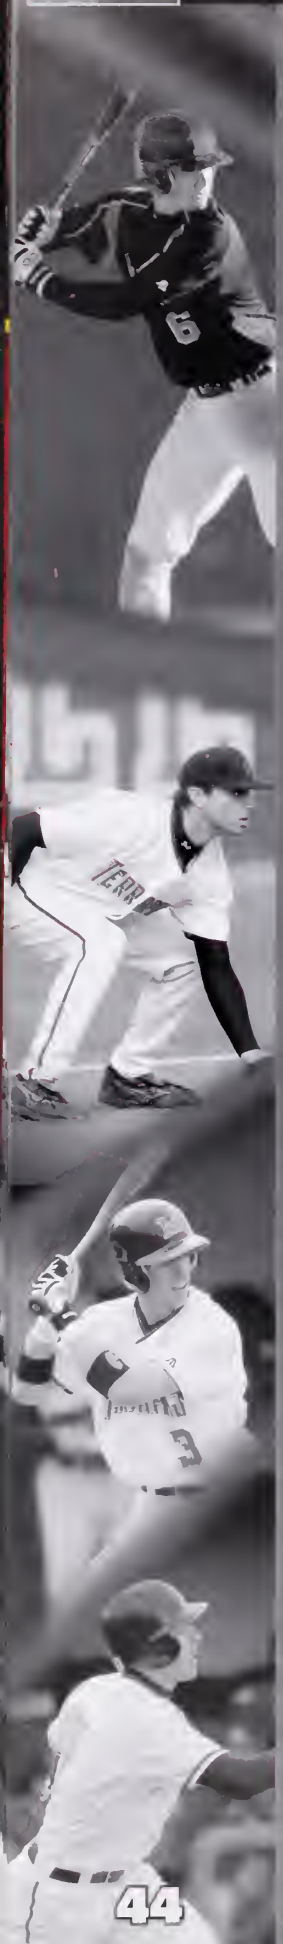
He has spurred the university to lead the state in the development of its high-tech economy, especially in the information and communication, bioscience and biotechnology, and nano-technology sectors. President Mote has greatly expanded the university's partnerships with corporate and federal laboratories and successfully negotiated to bring to the College Park area the first Science Research Park sponsored by the People's Republic of China. Under his leadership, the University has established a research park, The University of Maryland Enterprise Campus, M-Square, located on a 115-acre site adjacent to the University of Maryland/College Park Metro with 3 million square feet of development potential. Among its first tenants are the Center for Advanced Study of Language, a joint venture of the University and Department of Defense, and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's new World Weather and Climate Prediction Center.

During President Mote's second year in office, the University began the largest building boom in its history, with more than $100 million in new projects breaking ground that year. New facilities address every aspect of university life, from the arts to recreation to classrooms and laboratories, and, in creative partnership with the private sector, new residential facilities. Highlights of the construction activity include the stunning Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center; the Comcast Center, a state-of-the-art sports complex; a high-tech research greenhouse; and new classrooms for chemistry, computer science, business and engineering. President Mote also led the development of a new Facilities Master Plan for development in the next 20 years, which is noted for its emphasis on environmental stewardship.

Dr. Mote is a leader in the national dialogue on higher education and his analyses of shifting funding models have been featured in local and national media. He has testified on major educational issues before Congress, representing the University and higher education associations on the problem of visa barriers for international students and scholars and on deemed export control issues. He has been asked to serve on a high level National Academies Committee appointed at the request of the Senate Energy Subcommittee of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee to identify challenges to United States leadership in key areas of science and technology and to be a member of the Leadership Council of the National Innovation Initiative, an activity of the Council on Competitiveness. He has served as vice chair of the Department of Defense Basic Research Committee, and is a member of the Council of the National Academy of Engineering. In 2004-2005, he served as President of the Atlantic Coast Conference. In its last ranking in 2002, "Washington Business Forward" magazine counted him among the top 20 most influential leaders in the region.

He and his wife of over 40 years, Patricia Mote, have two married children, Melissa and Adam, and four grandchildren. Patsy Mote has continued her strong support of the arts and is spokesperson for the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center and a member of Prince George's County Arts Commission.





DEBORAH A. YOW

ATHLETICS DIRECTOR • 13TH YEAR AT MARYLAND

Deborah A. Yow is in the 13th year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a tenure that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought steady and continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's 13 years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable 14 national championships and graduated student-athletes at an enviable rate as Maryland athletics has soared to sustained new heights among the nation's elite intercollegiate athletic programs.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her prior election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges and universities in the U.S. and Canada.

She was honored recently by Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal as one of the 20 most influential people in intercollegiate athletics and she has received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration.

Dr. Yow was selected to serve on the U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations. She recently served as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television. The committee is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and dealing with issues related to television. Yow led the committee during the successful renegotiation of comprehensive, multi-year ACC football and basketball contracts with ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 and syndication entities.

Additionally, she has represented intercollegiate athletics with presentations in a number of prominent settings such as the Harvard University School of Law conference on "Shaping the Future of Collegiate Athletics" and the Street and Smith's Sports Business Journal "National Forum on the Direction of Intercollegiate Athletics" in New York. She was also recently inducted into the State of Maryland Women's Hall of Fame and the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame, joining fellow Terp Buck Williams as honorees.

Yow, who has served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America.

Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization with 27 sports and more than 700 student-athletes.
- Balanced all 12 of the department's annual budgets (none of the budgets were balanced in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $52 million annually and the multi-million dollar accumulated operating debt which her administration inherited has been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent for student athletes at Maryland.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 7 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.

IN DECEMBER OF 2004, DEBORAH A. YOW WAS NAMED ONE OF THE MOST INFLUENTIAL PEOPLE IN COLLEGE ATHLETICS BY STREET & SMITH'S SPORTS BUSINESS JOURNAL.

Dr. Yow congratulates one of the members of the Competitive Cheer team that won the 2006 NCA Division I National Championship.

- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased over 350 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by over 300 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 27 teams. The Comcast Center for men's and women's basketball and other sports that use the facility is a prime example of the dramatic upgrade of athletic facilities.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area of Maryland athletics.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Maryland captured a remarkable four national championships during the 2005-06 academic season.
- In 2005-2006, the Terrapins achieved the highest student-athlete graduation rate in the history of Maryland athletics.
- Maryland was selected by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In 2005-06, Maryland Athletics won the inaugural PRISM Award as the most well-managed Division I collegiate athletics program in the nation.
- In men's basketball, the Terps won the Atlantic Coast Conference title over Duke in the championship game in 2004 and won the NCAA National Championship in 2002. Under Coach Gary Williams, the men's basketball team appeared in 11 consecutive NCAA Tournaments.
- Maryland was ranked as the sixth-finest athletic program in the nation by the Laboratory for the Study of Intercollegiate Athletics, based on comprehensive criteria such as graduation rates, financial efficiency, equity effectiveness and competitive excellence.
- Women's basketball won the 2006 NCAA National Championship under head coach Brenda Frese, completing an amazing turnaround that saw the program go from a 10-18 record to a National Championship in four seasons.
- In football, the Terps won the 2001 Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl, followed that with an 11-win season and a 30-3 victory over the University of Tennessee in the Peach Bowl, again followed by a 10-win season and a 41-7 win over West Virginia in the Gator Bowl on New Year's Day 2004. Graduation rates in football are near 80 percent and the program was recently recognized by the American Football Coaches Association for its academic excellence under Coach Ralph Friedgen. The 2006 season saw the Terps finish with a 9-4 record and a 24-7 win over Purdue in the Champs Sports Bowl.
- Additionally, Maryland is one of only two universities in the nation to win National Championships in men's basketball, women's basketball and football. Stanford is the only other NCAA Division I institution to achieve that mark.
- Set an ACC single-game record for women's basketball attendance by drawing 17,243 to a regular-season game at Comcast Center.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third-winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S., who guided his team to the NCAA Final Four three times in the past four seasons.
- Field Hockey earned a National Championship in 2005-06 and has become a perennial participant in the Final Four in that sport.
- Women's Lacrosse has continued its winning ways with seven national championships from 1995-2001, with additional Final Four appearances.
- Men's Soccer appeared in four consecutive Final Fours from 2002-05 and won the NCAA National Championship in the 2005 season.
- Football facilities have been significantly enhanced with team house, stadium and practice field upgrades. The Academic Center was the first improvement, as it took priority over all other initiatives.

- The Terrapins have moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center, housing athletic department offices and seating for 18,000 fans for basketball and other events.
- In 2005-06, 13 Maryland teams competed in postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past 12 years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied... our vision is to be one of the Top 5 programs in the nation consistently... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools... to work hard and work smart... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). In 2002, she brought to the University of Maryland Brenda Frese, who at that time was the National Coach of the Year in women's basketball. Four years later, Frese led the Terrapins to the NCAA National Championship at the Women's Final Four in Boston.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT AND CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Led by associate athletics director Anton Goff, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes. Don Pearman (right) works with the baseball team.

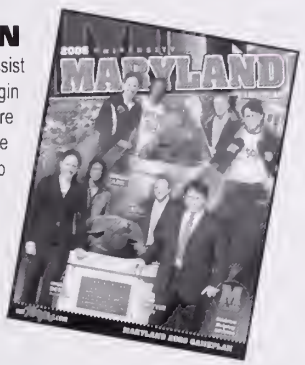
The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of ILP programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, a new academic wing was added to the Gossett football team house last Fall. It features offices for two counselors, three learning specialist, and a graduate assistant; as well as a quiet study area, 29-desk computer lab, classroom, tutor rooms and classroom/lab for the individualized learning program.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100 (First-year transitions to the university)

MARYLAND GAMEPLAN

The Maryland Gameplan is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin the job search process. It is distributed to more than 500 corporations and businesses across the country, in addition to being featured on the M Club website. Prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements. The Maryland Gameplan directory is produced annually in collaboration with the M Club.



CAREER NETWORKING NIGHT

Because career development is an ongoing process, ASCDU provides a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the year. Professional assistance with resume-writing, interviewing skills, graduate school search and job search is readily available to all student-athletes. During the spring semester ASCDU hosts the Career Networking Night, where student-athletes can learn about career interests and career planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen areas of interest. Employers at the Career Networking Night recognize the marketable qualities student-athletes have gained through athletic participation. Student-athletes learn about opportunities for internships and full-time jobs.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS PROGRAMS

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success (C.H.A.M.P.S.) Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE CHAMPS/LIFE SKILLS PROGRAMS:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

ACADEMIC SUPPORT FOR RETURNING ATHLETES PROGRAM

The Academic Support for Returning Athletes Program was created in 1986 to support the academic efforts of former varsity student-athletes at the University of Maryland, College Park. In 1989, ASRAP was assigned by the President's Office to the Academic Achievements Program and enrolled 40 students that year. As a member of the National Consortium for Academics and Sports (NCAS), the University of Maryland is committed to assisting its former athletes with degree completion. A key component of the program is community outreach.
